WELL, I NEVER!

In 1226 the author Muhammad ibn Hassan ibn Muhammad ibn al-Karim al-Katib al-Baghdadi (yes, that really was his name!) wrote a manuscript of recipes and declared that "In the name of God the merciful, the compassionate," pleasure could be divided into six classes: food, drink, clothes, sex, scent and sound, and that of these, the noblest and most consequential was food.

We totally agree!

We think we have you covered on the food, drink, scent and sound, but the clothes and sex are on you guys!

COMMENTS THAT MAKE IT ALL WORTHWHILE!

"This place is amazing! Everything was so wonderful. I don't know how you could do it better...I can't wait to come back and try other dishes! "

- MICHAEL SMITH, TULSA

"Love the food! I haven't had anything that I didn't devour!"

- SHERRY WATKINSON, TULSA

"Food was incredible. We have never been here before or even tried falafel or shawarma and they were delicious! We will make this a regular stop!"

- KITZIE VANDER KOOI, COLLINSVILLE
